FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1901.

THIEVES DIFFER VERY LITTLE.

The Spanish war had an effect not anticipated by the people when they were demanding intervention in some form to relieve the Cubans from the yoke of Spain. It was not within the purview of probable events that a result of the war would be the expansion of the United States into a world power.

The country is not any more powerful at this time in its moral force than it was preceding the war. Its material wealth may have increased, but its moral worth does not exceed at present the standard it acquired years ago.

It has occupied the foremost position in moral influence among the nations for half a century, which is a more exalted relation than the position of a world power could furnish which had its origin and place in material or physical force. Preceding the Cuban war the United States had no ambition beyond a care for the domestic affairs of the people connected as they were with commerce at home and abroad. The foreign trade of the country was prosperous and was receiving the attention our domestic position was capable of giving it which was more direct and for that reason more strong in effect than it can possibly be. There is conceded to the country a relation which gives it standing among foreign governments as a world power.

The nation was engaged exclusively in attending to its own business which was sufficient for a successful people, who were rapidly expanding to dimensions that would place them in a position to command justice to all peoples upon the earth against the rapacity of absolute, or one man governments and other monarchical systems of the old world.

A world power when properly understood means that a nation entitled to be so regarded by other nations, has the character of a prize fighter among men or the relation of a pirate among nations and nothing more, or it may be properly said, a world power means when placed in its true light, to civilization, a nation whose physical force is sufficient to make it respected among bullies when engaged in doing a wrong.

It is a problem to many people how it came that their country became a bully. It is the old story repeated of a young man full of vigor, strong in muscle and in full health, who leaves the domestic hearth to take a place among men of the world. His fine form is observed by a bully who concludes there is a good fight in the young fellow when trained, and he is sought after and persuaded to take training. In his training rounds at trading quarters he exhibits qualities that command respect from bullies or knocking out his antagonist, which adds to his future and he becomes a companion of bullies and engages in their disreputable business.

It was that respectable bully, Great Britain, who took the size of the young giant of the west and persuaded it to take training and become a bully. It was not on the best of terms with other disreputable fellows, who were engaged in bullying weak states and their people and it had become necessary that the old land pirate should have a strong young fighter to stand at its back while it was engaged in killing off the Boers and taking their lands.

When the young giant had taken training as a fighter it entered the ring as a land pirate and has continued the work under the plea of squatter sovereignty, whose tombstone is in Kansas labeled "The child of Stephen A. Douglass, ruled by the Republican party and the people of the South." The same rules in virtue, or in that which is evil that direct and govern the actions of individuals direct and govern in the work of nations. The only difference there is in the position of an individual and the position of a nation when committing a wrong is in the courts and the mode of punishment. When individuals are caught stealing they are punished by courts established for that purpose. When nations steal the property of other nations or other people the courts are battle fields and punishment is administered by "might."

An individual thief as a rule has some excuse for taking the property of another. Nations provide a pretext for stealing the property or territory of other nations, or for taking the property of other people. There is very little difference among thieves whether they are individuals or nations on moral grounds. The difference, if any, being against nations that steal.

ABOUT MINE AND MINER

Notes Gathered From Exchanges

About This Industry.

The new strike in the Fraser & McIlhenny mine on Adams Hill, near Eureka, is still holding its own.

The articles of incorporation of the State Line Metal Company have been filed in the office of the Recorder of Lincoln county. The company was organized under the laws of Iowa, with a capital stock of $50,000. The mines of the company are in Yellow Pine district and the officers are Joseph H. Call, president; E. H. Hubbard, vice-president; Mecca Peavery, secretary; A. M. Cates, treasurer.

The Horseshoe mill at Fay is running as smoothly as could be wished. There is a mining district with great possibilities, yet there is but one company operating. The Mountain View Company, which owns the Ross, Euck and a number of other mining claims, has been doing nothing for the past three years except annual labor, all owing to frauds perpetrated against them when it was first organized. The company possesses, if not the best, some of the most promising mining ground in the district.—Pioche Record.

THE NEXT ATTRACTION.

Norris & Rowe's Big Trained Animal Show Will Visit This City.

"The particular friendships occasionally formed by animals," says Professor I. I. Norris of Norris & Rowe's Big Trained Animal Shows which will exhibit here next Wednesday, are characterized by the virtues and failings incident to human attachments. I am frequently reminded of man's selfishness and inconsistency in the ways of the brute creation, nor is it peculiar to animals that they sometimes enter into alliances of a curious kind. Naturally enough, ponies make friends and comrades among themselves, as dogs do, still oftener, but a close friendship and understanding between ponies and dogs is apparent more frequently than any similar relationship between the individuals of the same species. Perhaps the most remarkable attachments are those shown by animals thrown together by enforced circumstances and separated from others of their kind. Elephants have a positive dread of solitude, and when this happens to be unavoidable will make friends of the most unlikely creatures. Fargo, the small performing elephant with Norris & Rowe's Trained Animal Shows, in winter quarters is kept away from the other animals. For some time after his isolation he showed symptoms of distress, amounting to positive melancholy, and not attributable to any physical cause. A goat and kid were procured and judiciously introduced to the room where Fargo was confined. Fargo seemed to take much interest in them until the goat died, the kid remained in the room with the elephant and Fargo diverted himself by lifting the little creature up with his trunk and carefully placing it on the floor again. He would repeat this operation every few minutes, evidently to the satisfaction of both.

Battle in the Stock Market.

Special to the JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, May 3.—A sensational battle between financial giants is being waged in the stock market here. A conflict is in progress for control of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads between Gould and Harriman on one side and Vanderbilt on the other. Heavy sales of Union Pacific have pushed the price from $80 to $131 per share and some holders have made millions.

Subsisted on Grass.

Special to the JOURNAL.

PROSSER, Wash., May 3.—With mouth and hands stained with grass she had eaten in desperate hunger, and face drawn in agony from thirst, the little 5-year-old daughter of W. B. Mathews was found yesterday on Horse Heaven plains where she was lost a week ago.

Surveying Finished.

Special to the JOURNAL.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The surveyors have finished their work on the Nicaragua canal and have staked the entire route. It will cost $210,000,000 to complete the work on this route.

Prof. Arthur O. Lovejoy has resigned from the Stanford University because he was in sympathy with Prof. Ross.

The Irish Hedge School.

The educational structure for which, taking advantage of the toleration of government, the hedge schoolmaster abandoned his old fresco establishment, was a very humble one of its kind. The peasantry, animated by the strong Irish love of learning, built it for him, just as in modern days they assemble and build huts for evicted tenants.

It was not a very formidable undertaking. A deep, dry ditch or trench by the roadside was usually selected for the site. At the side of the trench an excavation of the requisite area was dug, so that the clay bank formed three sides of the inclosure. This saved the trouble of building walls. Then the fourth side, or front side wall, with a door and two windows, was built of green sods laid in courses, while similar sods raised the back to the required height and pointed the gable ends.

Young trees and wattles cut from the nearest wood and bound together with straw ropes and withies formed the roof timbers. Over these were spread brambles, then came a layer of "scraws," or slabs of healthy bog surface, and over all a thatching of rushes. The earthen floor was pared to an approach to a level, the rubbish cleared away, and a pathway made to the public road. There was your hedge schoolhouse, ready for business.—Donahoe's Magazine.

It Killed the Bear.

A man who had experience in Alaska was listening to a group of citizens discussing the weather and broke in on the talk thus:

"Tshaw, you fellows don't know what changeable weather is. You think it's always cold in Alaska, do you? Well, just let me tell you a little personal experience of mine. One day I went hunting with a party of miners. The weather was quite warm when we started, and I perished freely. Suddenly it turned bitterly cold, and large icicles formed on my whiskers (I had grown a full beard). Crossing a small canyon, I came face to face with a big, ugly looking bear. I had nothing but powder in my gun, and the man with the cartridges was away behind me, so as a desperate resort I rammed the icicles from my beard into the gun and blazed away."

"And what happened?" said one of the crowd eagerly.

"Why, I struck him squarely in the head and killed him."

"Killed him? Impossible!" chorused the crowd.

"But it did, I tell you. The temperature suddenly turned warm again, melting the icicles, and the bear died from water on the brain."—Detroit Free Press.

Intoxicated.

At a recent banquet in Sydney a descendant of the Macdonnells was seated at Clarence passed a knife "with the blade foremost" to a member of a famous old family bearing the historic name of the Macdonnells. The name of those who looked on dignified the action as one of contemptible bad breeding. But one or two understood the significance and knew that the betrayal is still unforfeited.

Meaning by the Seashore.

"What a mistake it is," observed the doctor as they walked along the shore, to speak of this as the watery waste. There isn't a drop that is wasted. Without the ocean the continents themselves would soon become uninhabited deserts."

"Therefore," commented the professor, "while it laves the sand it gives the land."—Chicago Tribune.

BABY'S PORTRAIT.

(Sketches by his mother.)

A little head of shapely mold,
Two baby eyes so bright and bold,
A dainty little nose;
Two little cheeks so round and fair,
With tiny dimples hiding there
Like dewdrops in a rose.

A little mouth so fragrant sweet,
A tiny dimpling chin so neat,
And both just ready to kiss;
Two cunning ears each in its place,
A baby forehead set with grace,
Whose photograph is this!

Two sturdy shoulders, broad and square,
Two chubby hands so fat and fair,
And cunning feet so coy;
A roguish smile for you and me,
Sweet baby ways; now, don't you see
The portrait of our boy?

TAKING IN MR. MOODY.

How His Confidence Was Abused by the Natives of Bethany.

When D. L. Moody went to Bethany during his travels in the east, he was very soft hearted over all the multitude of beggars there, not only because the place is so unusual, but because he was moved by its beautiful traditions. He gave quantities of "backsheesh" and then asked if any of the children had the names of Mary and Martha. Yes, indeed, they had. And that opened his pockets again.

The news of his generosity spread through the village, and new claimants came until his visit seemed likely to result in a fight for existence. The case was getting desperate, and he told the dragoman to call for silence while he made an address. Then he said:

"I have come 6,000 miles to see this little village of Bethany. It was a place my Master loved to visit, and I have come to see it because he loved it. I am very glad to meet you all, but now I want to be alone. I have no more backsheesh, and I bid you goodbye."

A fine looking boy of 16 replied to the address. He spoke fluently and with the grace of an orator. Mr. Moody was delighted with the beginning of his oration, but not with its conclusion. "We are glad to see the gentleman and his friends who have come so far, but the gentleman must not think that his actions are equal to the importance of his visit. Six thousand miles is a long way to come, and the gentleman must have sacrificed much to make the visit. In consequence it is natural for us to expect that he would be munificent in 'backsheesh.' This he has not done, and we now expect that he will become a great deal more."

Mr. Moody was so disgusted that he abandoned the situation entirely and hurried away with his friends.

"I did think," said he, "that boy had a soul above backsheesh."

"And did you think, too, that some of the children were named Martha and Mary?" he was asked.

"Certainly. Why not?"

Nothing only they were all boys."—Youth's Companion.

Fixed It.

Mamma—Now Freddy, mind what I say. I don't want you to go over into the next garden to play with that little boy. He's very rude.

Freddy (heard a few minutes after and calling over the wall) I say, Mamma, my says I'm not to go in your garden because you're rude, but you come into my garden—I ain't rude.

A TRIBUTE TO THEIR MEMORIES

Brief Sketch of the Lives of Two Prominent Citizens of Washoe County Who Recently Passed Away.

Seldom has death created such a loss to Washoe county as when the dread messenger summoned Erwin and Eugene Crane, father and son, upon the same day. It is but fitting that a word be said of these two worthy citizens.

ERWIN CRANE—Was a native of Vermont and was born in Addison, on June 25, 1812. His boyhood days were spent at Bridgeport, where he received his education. In 1818 he left the Green Mountain State and went to New York. He crossed the plains to California in 1859.

His first year on the coast was spent in mining in Plumas county. Afterwards he spent several years in Oregon and Washington, coming to Nevada in 1864, where he settled permanently near the celebrated Steamboat Springs.

His occupation since coming to this State was ranching and stock raising. Mr. Crane is given the credit for first demonstrating that alfalfa and shade trees might be successfully grown in the sage brush lands of Nevada.

His first attempt was regarded by his neighbors as a foolish scheme, but his beautiful green fields and fine groves were soon ample proof that his judgment was sound.

Mr. Crane was first married to Miss Mary Tiffany of New York and after her death was united to Mrs. Mary E. Stone. He was blessed with one son and two daughters all of whom survived him, but the boy was called to rest a few hours after his father.

That Erwin Crane was beloved by all his neighbors was clearly shown during his last sickness and the whole valley feels that it has lost one of its principal promoters.

EUGENE O. CRANE—Was born in Michigan in July, 1851; spent the early part of his life in Wisconsin and was but seven years ago when his father came west, leaving him with an uncle. Eugene from the time of his father's departure was thrown upon his own resources and had quite a struggle in his boyhood days, but he was very industrious and obtained a good education.

His father made a trip east in 1875 and Eugene accompanied him west on his return in the same year, going first to Fresno, Cal., where he obtained employment on a ranch and soon was promoted to superintendent.

He next became engaged in the real estate business and was very successful. A few years later he and his father came to Nevada and ever since then he has been one of the prominent citizens of the State.

Mr. Crane was of a very generous disposition and was always ready to administer to the wants of the needy. His two sisters, Mrs. Stiles and Mrs. Howard, survive him. While on his deathbed Eugene said, "Dear sisters, you are all I have to live for."

His death was unexpected, as he was ill less than 48 hours. His neighbors all feel the loss of one so public spirited, so kind hearted and so generous.

SOUTHERN OUTLOOK

A Number of Mining Properties
Promised to Come into Production.

W. A. Kelly, the mining expert, has returned from a trip through the southern country, where he inspected a number of properties in the interest of eastern capital.

Mr. Kelly spent some time in Huntington valley where a sensational strike was made last fall. He says the ledge is very rich on the surface in free gold. The owners are running to pick up the ledge at great depth. Their tunnel is now in about 800 feet and it will require several hundred feet more work.

Great activity prevails near Yerington. Four companies are at work. One outfit has a shaft 350 feet deep. The Boston company is down 300 feet and the bottom of the shaft is in good ore.

The Bluestone mine is showing up in first-class shape. It is equipped with one of the most modern and complete smelting and power plants on the coast. Machinery is being put in to pump water two and a half miles from the valley to the mine. Several hundred men are employed in the camp and a town is springing up.

CHANGES AT THE ASYLUM

T. E. Robb, head attendant at the State insane asylum, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position with the N. C. O. P. F. Timblin has also resigned as attendant in order to take a place offered him in Honolulu. Both left the institution with the kindest feeling toward the management.

George R. Duncan and James Marks have been appointed as attendants and several promotions have been made by Dr. Patterson. It was also learned last evening that the matron has resigned.

WILL LOCATE IN THIS TOWN

The Journal has received a letter from Prof. F. R. Blockberger of Roseland, British Columbia, stating that he expects to make Reno his home. Prof. Blockberger has for a number of years been general superintendent of the Shakespeare Gold Mining Company and was until recently U. S. Consular officer at Roseland.

From occasional copies of the Journal that reached him, he arrived at the conclusion that Reno has a future as a mining town and, for this reason, he will cast his lot with us.

MANY THANKS.

DEDICATE THE TRACK

There Will Be Big Delays in Cycle-
dom Next Sunday Afternoon.

Arrangements were completed last evening to dedicate the Reno Wheelmen's new race track at the State Fair grounds. The ceremonies will take place at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

This event is for club members only. The procession will form at the club house immediately after the road race and proceed to the grounds.

A barbecue is the main attraction on the program. Two big porkers will be roasted and coffee and other things furnished the cyclists. Speechmaking is also provided for.

The track is practically completed. It has been built inside the horse track. It is a full mile, the horse track being something over the allotted distance. The track has been banked on the curves. It is twenty feet wide in front of the grand stand and twelve feet wide on the back stretch.

The Reno Wheelmen's first annual road race which takes place Sunday next promises to be the most interesting event that has ever taken place in the State for some years. The entries closed last evening with twenty-six entries, which represent the very best riders of the State, not to say of the coast, and the event will be hotly contested and very interesting from start to finish.

The following are entered for the event: Ed. Stanley, Sam Francovich, James Hart, Claud Merishon, Geo. Kornmeyer, Will Hart, E. McLeod, Barney Fraser, Alf. Peckham, Pearl Upson, Will Thompson, G. Johnson, Joe Johnson, Jay Cox, R. Buncell, Guy Nash, C. F. Hathaway, Jim Peckham, Art. Peckham, Art. Keddie, A. L. Eaton, Geo. Bechtel, A. Higgins, J. Wright, Jack Shaver, Will Luke and Geo. Maxwell.

W. H. McInnis and King Ryan will assist in making out the handicaps, and they will be given to the riders Sunday morning. Merishon and Shaver, the committee in charge, selected the prizes last evening, and they are now on exhibition in the display window of the Golden Jewelry Company, in the Reno Wheelmen's building and are as fine a lot of prizes as were ever gotten together for any event, and the riders should be well pleased with them, and undoubtedly are. The Golden Jewelry Company has donated one of their display windows for the use of the Wheelmen, and with the assistance of artist Geo. McCormick and Will Doane, the committee have fixed up a neat and attractive window, and a constant stream of people are viewing the prizes, which are as follows: 1st place prize, gold watch and chain; 2nd place prize, camera; 1st time prize, gold watch; 2nd time prize, silver mounted toilet case (four pieces); 3rd place prize, safety razor set; 4th place prize, camera; 5th place prize, bicycle lamp and bicycle sundries; 6th place prize, fishing pole and reel; 7th place prize, gas.

The prizes will be awarded as soon after the race as possible. The committee request that during the start and finish of the race that spectators keep on the sidewalk, so as not to be in the way of the riders and officials. It is necessary that this be done.

The committee ask that we request ranchers to be careful of their irrigating ditches the balance of the week so that the course will not be flooded on the day of the race; people in teams should also be very careful and not get on the course between 10 hours of 1 and 3 p. m. Arrangements are being made to have the mountain Echo band discourse sweet music during the race.

A GROWING COMMUNITY

Reno is enjoying one of the biggest building booms in its history. In all parts of the town residences are being erected and business houses are being put up. All the buildings are rented before they are completed.

The tide of immigration is flowing Renwards. The growth has nothing of the mushroom nature about it, but is steady and substantial, the result of a knowledge of this town's and vicinity's resources having gotten noised abroad.

DIAMOND SETTING.

As this is a very important branch of the jewelry business, we have started no means in getting the best diamond setter on the coast. If you have any stone to be reset it will pay you to take it to the Golden Jewelry Company.

SHUDDERS AT HIS PAST.
"I recall now with horror," says Mail Carrier Burnett Mean, of Leavenworth, O., "my three years of suffering from kidney trouble. I was hardly ever free from dull aches or acute pains in my back. To stoop or lift mail sacks made me groan. I felt tired, worn out, about ready to give, when I began to use Electric Bitters, but six bottles completely cured me and made me feel like a new man." They're unrivaled to regulate Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

THE ARREST MADE.
The officers feel somewhat aggrieved that a public charge should have been made that the fellow who used his blackjack in front of the Washoe Wednesday night escaped arrest. Officer McNelly states that he was gathered in and will answer to the charge of assault and battery.

TRIAL IS STILL ON

Slow Progress Being Made With the Suit for the Wedekind Lateral Rights.

Little progress was made yesterday in the trial of the injunction suit of George Wedekind vs. Chas. B. Bell and others. From all indications the trial will drag along for a week longer.

As on Wednesday there were spectators galore who feasted their ears on wrangles between the lawyers, interspersed with dissertations on mining terms.

J. M. Libby, assayer for the Reno Reduction works, was on the stand a couple of hours. He gave evidence respecting the trend and dip of the Reno Star lead, although in the witness' opinion, Mr. Wedekind doesn't possess a ledge. He told about assays made and was severely raked by the plaintiff's counsel, who thoroughly sounded his knowledge of mines and minerals.

HEARTFELT WELCOME

Rev. C. E. Chase Tendered a Reception in the Congregational Church.

The lecture room of the Congregational Church was the scene of a pleasant reception last evening. It was tendered to the new pastor, Rev. C. E. Chase, and his family. The room was prettily decorated and was thronged with members of the congregation and friends of the church.

A short program was rendered. Mrs. Lee sang. A recitation was given by Miss Herschler and a solo was sung by Miss McCormick. Several pastors of the other churches were present and they made brief but heartfelt addresses of welcome, to which Rev. Chase responded in happy manner.

Refreshments were served and the balance of the evening spent in conversation.
